

ACADEMIC VETERINARY ASSESSMENT COMMITTEE

CALL FOR NOMINATIONS

The International Council for Veterinary Assessment (ICVA) is seeking individuals with an interest in assessment to volunteer for the ICVA Academic Veterinary Assessment Committee (AVAC).

The AVAC works to identify existing assessment and measurement resources within academic veterinary medicine, identify areas of opportunity where the ICVA can support veterinary education, facilitate best practices for assessment across veterinary educational programs, provide granting opportunities in veterinary assessment to support best practices and the assessment research literature, and facilitate opportunities for assessment collaboration across veterinary academia.

The AVAC typically meets remotely on a quarterly schedule with an annual face-to-face meeting in the fall each year, which is financially supported by ICVA.

If you are passionate about assessment and have an interest in joining like-minded individuals, the AVAC invites you to submit a brief letter of intent and CV to Jeanne Blasewitz (jblasewitz@icva.net) by December 6, 2024.

Please visit our website (www.icva.net) for more information and please do not hesitate to contact us if there are questions.

Sincerely,

Kristin P. Chaney, DVM, DACVIM, DACVECC
Chair, ICVA Academic Veterinary Assessment Committee
